

Frequently Asked Questions

1. You have several systems that need to work together

Electro Sound specialises in systems integration. It makes us very happy to show you how it all can work perfectly together. We design and manufactures the custom bits to make it happen.

2. You want to listen to one thing in one room and something else in another all from the same system. Or... You want 3 or 4 rooms on the same music but 2 other with their own choice.

Electro Sound sets up a single system with remote control pads that allows you to do whatever makes sense for you and your home. It's a distributed system. They're cool. They sound complicated but the whole point is easy use and they get equipment out of the rooms. We do the hard part. You do the easy part.

3. You have ground loops or earthing problems

Electro Sound makes earth isolations systems for interference free operation of large scale AV systems- particularly important in a marine environment.

4. You want a system that is easy to operate

Matt is particular to make systems as user friendly as you want.

5. You expect no hassle service

ES knows customer service means to exceed expectations. Electro Sound's integrity means be on time. Electro Sound knows to keep the customer happy.

6. You want information up-dates to keep you in the loop OR you don't want to be bothered by detail. Have it your way. You tell us what you want: more info or less.

7. You have a job that cannot be fixed with an off the shelf-products.

The client wanted to keep his kids quiet in the close quarters of a boat.

The adults wanted to watch TV or listen to their favourite music while their kids listen to their own music, TV or play station in the same room or another room. There was no off-the shelf solution to accomplish what they wanted until they came to Electro Sound.

We designed and fabricated a multi-audio channel with multi-room distribution system for wireless infrared headphones that was completely independent from the main distributed audio-visual system.

8. You like your music

ES people love audio. Their motto "making your world sound better." Tony is a gigging musician with a great disposition and down to earth way of entertaining people. You can catch Matt whistling to music in his head.

9. You won't get any sales hype.

Electro Sound selects the right brand for each job. Electro Sound can supply over 80 equipment brands. So we can use the exact equipment for the job's needs and budget. Other retail shops only recommend what they have in stock.

10. You have a special A-V situation

Electro Sound can design and fabricates when nothing exists on the market that will do the job. Electro Sound makes electronic earthing isolations systems, infrared headphone systems.... The list goes on. Ask us about your special need. (add contact us form)

11. You don't like the systems you've heard...you want your own custom sound.

Electro Sound has wide range of speaker components in stock
Electro Sound can manufacture the exact speaker to meet your individual needs, if an 'off the shelf' speaker won't be right.

12. You don't want to be able to see the equipment hanging all over the room

Electro Sound can install speakers that are nearly invisible. Beats the in-wall or in-ceiling systems that are available today. Just ask us about them. We can make the TV disappear when you are not watching it. Electro Sound is an agent for electronic and hydraulic lifts.

13. You want to hide your equipment and operate it in another room

Yes, we can make it happen.

14. You want a smart home. You want to control your audio visual, lighting, air conditioning, security camera and security systems from one set of touch pads.

This is audiovisual information technology (AVIT). Electro Sound is avit.co.nz

15. You want to view your entire CD collection library on your TV screen and easily select any song or CD or type or make your own song list and play them.

This is audiovisual information technology (AVIT).